

Dear Judith,

I had been away when your email arrived and so just got to look at the Web Page today. It is wonderful and I so enjoyed seeing what you have accomplished. The work itself is beautiful and lucky are the customers who have you as their consultant, designer, friend, and producer of their kitchen. It is really interesting that you should have become the designer of that part of the homes in which we draw the most comfort and warmth, where both our needs for nourishments and association are satisfied. I guess you could say in so far as from the start of life, love is really equated with food, you are in the end providing a kind of love for those you work with. The testimonials do suggest that your customers know that.

May your new website yield you the success you obviously already enjoy that you so richly deserve.

All the best.
Most fondly,
Joyce
